MAKING THEM AMERICANS THROUGH GOOD MUSIC

A novel idea in Americanization methods, sponsored by some of the leading figures in the American music world, is that of teaching the love of their adopted country by means of proper music. At Greenwich house, 44 Barrow street, New York city, no less than fifteen different nationalities sing in "melting pot" where the good music of the Land of the Free brings clean thoughts and undermines the "red" and radical propaganda that the enemies of organized government try to force into the minds of our coming generation.

HERE IS A REAL HERO

Henry G. Maas, third officer of the American steamship Sutherland, who dived overboard and rescued two longshoremen who had fallen into the water. One man slipped from a near-by dock and the other in an effort to catch him as he fell was dragged overboard. Maas jumped into the icy water, held one man up with one hand and swam to the other whom he pulled against piling and held there until aid arrived. Maas, who weighs only 125 pounds, now has a record of five lives saved.

Thought She Had Moved.
Mrs. Clancey was a very eccentric woman, and it was probably due to this fact that she had a falling out with her friend, Mrs. Murphy, who lived in the apartment just under her.

One day, while Mrs. Clancey was feeling particularly mean, she looked down from her window and saw Mrs. Murphy also enjoying the scenery. She could not resist the temptation to take a shot at her.

"Oh say, Murphy," she called down in deep sarcasm, "why don't you take your ugly old mug out to the windy and put your pet monkey in its place? That'd give the neighbors a change they'd like."

Mrs. Murphy looked up.
"Well, now, Mrs. Clancey," she slowly said, "it was only this mornin' that I did that very thing, an' the policeman came along, an' when he saw the monkey he bowed and smiled and said: 'Why, Mrs. Clancey, when did you move downstairs?'"

Poor Places for Pictures.
The Corcoran art gallery says that it is harmful to an oil painting to hang it near a window where it will be exposed to the sun, or to be hung near a stove or radiator, as all heat agencies tend to dry the oil and make the painting crack.

Virtue Ascribed to Laurel.
According to an old tradition laurel communicates the spirit of poetry and prophecy. Hence the custom of putting laurel leaves under one's pillow to acquire inspiration.

Music's Great Power.
"Those who think the music is one of the trifles of existence," said Gladstone, "are in grievous error, since from the earliest times it has been one of the most potent factors for molding and forming character."

We Fancy They'd Like It.

DON'T WHIP!

Stop Lashing Your Bowels with Harsh Cathartics but take "Cascarets."

Everyone must occasionally give the bowels some regular help or else suffer from constipation, bilious attacks, stomach disorders, and sick headache. But do not whip the bowels into activity with harsh cathartics.

What the liver and bowels need is a gentle and natural tonic, one that can constantly be used without harm. The gentlest liver and bowel tonic is "Cascarets." They put the liver to work and cleanse the colon and bowels of all waste, toxins and poisons without griping—they never sicken or inconvenience you like Calomel, Salts, Oil, or Purgatives.

Twenty-five million boxes of Cascarets are sold each year. They work while you sleep. Cascarets cost so little too.—Adv.
